

On each piece of land for a planned wind farm, you need to determine how to place wind turbines in order to achieve the best energy output.

Remember that wind turbines face into the prevailing winds, are surrounded by a T-shaped operating footprint that fits completely onto the piece of land, and can generate 50% more electricity when placed on a blue square.

